This major conference, organised by SYBRG / UKECONET and Ian Rotherham at Sheffield Hallam University, with other partners will look at the legacy of historical, ecological and archaeological contexts of medieval parks and their landscapes. It will revisit some of the themes from our previous medieval parks conference and set them within the 21st century framework of potentially re-wilding and restoring these landscapes.

In addition, we will be organising a 1-day field visit to King’s Clipstone (hopefully) and the Sherwood area. The conference will also include poster presentations, displays and bookstalls.

This is our first call for expressions of interest for papers (spoken and displays)

Please send proposals, offers and suggestions for papers and support to: info@hallamec.plus.com

Further information, a booking form and details of the programme will be available on the events page of our website www.ukeconet.org (follow the events link from the front page of the website).
